A fine ten pound baby boy was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Laudick, of route one. This is the first boy and Joe is feeling about twice as big as he ever did before.

Ralph Smith has purchased the Henry Dowse property and will occupy the same as his residence.

Mrs. W. C. Williams received the sad news last Sunday of the death of her brother's wife, who lives near Garden City.

Mrs. Callie O'Brien and children came up from Great Bend Saturday and spent a few days visiting at the Dunston home. They are moving to Hutchinson, and left there today.

Mrs. Jerry Simpson was in town today in the interest of her book, "The Life of Jerry Simpson." Jerry was a very popular man in his day and the book ought to make some interesting reading.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crowns, of Port Washington, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Smith, of Great Bend, came in from Great Bend Tuesday night to visit a couple of days at the E. J. Ingersoll home. Mrs. Crowns is a cousin of Mr. Ingersoll's.

Dr. Jury returned Saturday evening from his outing in Colorado. The Doctor spent the most of his time while there hunting and fishing. We understand that on one occasion while he was hunting deer up in the mountain that he actually saw a deer and that it came near running over him, and he didn't even attempt to shoot it. Wonder if the Doctor had the "skakes."

Olmits

(Held over from last week)
C. H. Ochs and Wm Meitner returned from Kansas City on Sunday.

C. J. Kreisel left for Topeka Monday morning, to participate in the state band contest.

C. H. Ochs says women have wings at the North Pole. How did he find out?

Quite a number of people attended the fair at Hutchinson Wednesday.

The Olmitz City band gave a dance in the park Wednesday. Refreshments were served.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Steinil, a boy, Friday the 10th.

Mrs. Joe Schreber has returned from Bushong, Kan., where she had been visiting relatives.

Night operator W. O. Carson, finding that operating does not give him quite enough muscular exercise, concluded to launch in the poultry business, as a side line. Getting the necessary materials, he set to work at once to fit up some sort of a frame to hold the chickens from flying over. Unluckily, he must have started the wrong way, for when it was completed, he found himself a prisoner, and escape was impossible without the assistance of someone. Mail carrier Boyle, who happened to be near at the time, heard the cries for help, came to his assistance, and with a little trouble, helped Mr. Carson out of his perilous position. Mr. Carson says that was as near as he ever wanted to become a chicken.

Later—Fourteen chickens escaped from the Carson poultry farm in the quiet of the night, by crawling under the gap of the floor. Mr. Carson forgot that chickens crawl under, as well as fly over, when he made his plans. At last accounts two of the fowls have been captured, the other twelve are still at large.

Hoisington

From the Dispatch:
A son was born to Henry McLain and wife of Lyndhurst Place Sunday, who tips the scales at 8 pounds. Henry is very much elated at this addition to Lyndhurst and has reasons to boast of the only new boy in that titled villa. His name is Wm. Thomas McLain, who with his mother is doing nicely.

A bouncing boy was born on the 8th to Edd Stokes and wife and it is useless to say they are proud of him. Mother and son are both doing well.

I. O. Russell and wife enjoyed a visit from his father and brother the last of the week. His brother is going to school in Kansas City but is suffering from a sprained ankle; the results of a baseball game.

Misses Florence Nimocks and Eva Goodwin are working at Smith & Krug's grocery. Harry Smith and family left Monday morning for Topeka to see the band boys win their prize and from there will go to Kansas City to visit relatives.

A little son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank who moved here recently from Leoti, sustained a painful injury to his left arm by being struck with a piece of glass in the hands of another boy. It required three stitches to close the wound. He is doing well.

Joe Schwartz has sold his Overland car to T. A. Stucker, south of Great Bend for $900. Joe has run this car over 13,000 miles since he bought it and it was still a good car when he sold it. Joe expects to buy another auto and continue in the livery business.

Engineer Gross was undoubtedly born under an unlucky star. While coming down the Brownell hill last week with the 447 she threw a tire and Charley, who was not very well recovered from his last mishap, began to figure how he was going to unload but as luck would have it the train was stopped without serious accident.

Jim Pugh saw the roof of the depot smoking Saturday and phoned in a fire alarm. The fire department was soon on the scene and had the blaze put out. The fire was burning under the roof at about the middle of the building and it is not known how it was started. While making the run, a son of T. I. Carter fell in front of the hook and ladder wagon and was run over. It was thought at first that he might have been seriously hurt but after he recovered from the scare he was able to walk home feeling not much worse for his exciting experience.

Pawnee Rock

From the Herald:
Miss Laura Hoffman spent Saturday and Sunday in Great Bend visiting friends.

Chas. Lynch returned from Oklahoma City Tuesday night. His mother is improving.

S. A. Miller and family were down from Kinsley Sunday visiting friends and relatives.

J. H. Lippincott, father of the editor, arrived from New Jersey today for a visit.

L. L. Lenhart and family, of Illinois who have been here some time visiting her parents, George Randall and family have moved to Great Bend to live.

Saturday evening at about 6 o'clock the livery barn was discovered to be on fire on the north side of the building, and although it had just got started, the fire was making a good headway. Several hand chemical extinguishers were put into use and the department called, and in a short time the fire was out. It was fortunate that the fire was discovered as soon as was, for had it gotten a little better start, it is doubtful whether or not it could have been controlled; as the barn is a very old building and would have burned fast. The wind was blowing towards the northeast and undoubtedly some nearby building would have caught fire. The origin of the fire is unknown.

W. R. Crumpton has returned from Wichita where he has been on business.

Will Soderstrom and family are expected to arrive here in a few weeks. Their old friends will be glad to welcome them back again.

Mrs. H. B. Johnson was pleasantly surprised last Friday evening by about twenty-five of her neighbors, who came in to spend the evening. Mrs. Johnson had just returned from a visit in Ohio on the evening before and they were all glad to welcome her home.

Stamping Out the Mange

At least seven counties in the northwest corner of Kansas will be removed from the mange quarantine this fall, and it is probable that all of the western counties will be removed during next winter. J. A. Mercer, state live stock sanitary inspector says that he hoped to have the mange quarantine removed from the entire state by April of next year.

"They are doing lots of good work out there now," said Mr. Mercer. "We will not remove the quarantine this fall until after the shipping season is over, but by November 1, I think we will be able to remove it from the seven counties in the extreme northwest corner of Kansas."

That will leave eighteen counties still under quarantine but the work of cleaning up these counties is progressing so nicely that I think we will be able to remove the quarantine from these next spring. Then there will be no quarantine in Kansas except in small sections where there is an outbreak of the mange in one or two herds.

There is more or less mange in central and eastern Kansas now, possibly more than in the counties under quarantine at this time. We do not expect to remove the quarantine until the disease is absolutely stamped out of the western Kansas herds. These little local outbreaks cause little or no trouble anywhere.

"We have some troubles on our hands now with Texas fever. A big herd of cattle shipped to Kansas City and then distributed throughout Kansas and to Illinois and Missouri has been exposed to Texas fever and several animals have died."

We are tracing this and either the herd was infected in the Strong City stockyards, the cars in which they were shipped, or in the Kansas City stockyards. We are not sure which place yet. We are tracing the cattle as fast as possible so that we can quarantine them wherever they are.

Judge Cole returned Friday from Lyons where he has been as an attorney in the case of State vs. Mrs. Brewer.
